Fabric Manipulation Has Done It Once More

Is Lynetta Welch talented? Does she do things mere mortals can only dream of trying? Why didn't we think of this?

In the past you may have known him as Hyrum or Glorpy. You remember where he lived, right? In that cheap piece of rayon that came in cheap packaging from your near-by magic store.

Well, the Ghostly Pocket Hank and Pocket Square give will give your new ghost a fine home and provide you with a trick you can carry always and use forever. It is well-made (as we have come to expect from Ms. Welch) but also thoughtfully designed to give your ghost the best movement and height.

If you don't know what we're talking about, check out the Fabric Manipulation website and tell them Inside Magic sent you. If you do remember Glorpy and Hyrum, and you would like to visit them in their new digs, click the link below to learn more about the best made effect of its kind anywhere.
