

Beer Bottle Gizmo by Fabric Manipulation

-----oOo-----

Description: The Beer Bottle Gizmo is a small device created by Lynetta Welch for secretly holding a beer, soda or water bottle (Perrier type) for production. Show a silk, or borrow a napkin and instantly produce a bottle from underneath; then hand the items out for a complete and unrestricted examination. Simply the cleanest and easiest bottle production ever! It measures approx. 3" long x 1" wide, it is quite small; all bulky bags and pockets are eliminated.

Another fine magical accessory from the good folks at Fabric Manipulation.

Like Lynetta Welch's previous offering (Ideal Ball & Egg Holder) the description provided in the ad copy is very accurate indeed.

Imagine producing a bottle apparently out of nowhere? I've played with this and the illusion is perfect with nobody being the wiser. If you do tablehopping or work behind a bar, this is a must have item! Street workers will have a field day as well. 😊

I should also point out that those who are just beginners in the craft would do well to check this bad boy out as well, because the effect is very strong, yet a no brainer to pull off. 😊

The only other comment I'll add is that even though the design is quite simple, the quality is absolutely top-notch. Very refreshing in a business where junk seems to be more and more common. Good stuff here! I'm looking forward to seeing more from Lynetta and company. Highly recommended. 😊
